Bachmann on solid ground

Raleigh, N.C. – Michele Bachmann may constantly be generating controversy in the national news, but back at home she finds herself in a solid position politically.

53% of her constituents approve of the job Bachmann is doing to 41% who disapprove. Opinion about her is strongly polarized along party lines with 86% of Republicans approving of her and 83% of Democrats disapproving, but with independents she finds a positive 51/42 spread.

Tested against a couple of her potential Democratic opponents Bachmann leads Maureen Reed 53-37 and Tarryl Clark 55-37. Clark's and Reed's numbers may improve once voters in the district become more aware of who they are. At this point 68% have no opinion about Clark and 82% don't know enough about Reed to have formed an opinion.

Likely contributing to Bachmann's present solid standing in the district is the unpopularity of Barack Obama and the national Democratic brand. After winning 45% in MN-6 last year, Obama's approval rating with its voters is now just 39%.

Only 29% of voters there express support for the health care bill that passed the House of Representatives last month, a number equal to the percentage of voters in the district who approve of the job Congressional Democrats are doing.

"Michele Bachmann's constituents don't seem to mind her penchant for controversial comments," said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. "Given how poorly national Democrats rate in the district they probably agree with a lot of them."

PPP surveyed 719 MN-6 voters from December 17th to 20th. The margin of error is +/- 3.7%. Other factors, such as refusal to be interviewed and weighting, may introduce additional error that is more difficult to quantify.

Complete results are attached and can be found at www.publicpolicypolling.com.
