Lieberman sees numbers collapse

Raleigh, N.C. – Joe Lieberman’s actions on the health care bill antagonized constituents both for and against it, and in the wake of that he finds his approval rating at just 25% with 67% of voters in the state disapproving of him.

Lieberman has hit a low point with Democrats usually reserved for Republican politicians, with 81% of them disapproving of him to just 14% happy with his performance. Republicans give him bad marks by a 48/39 margin and independents do so by a 61/32 spread.

It’s clear that his actions on the Senate health care bill have made a large contribution to his falling popularity. 68% of voters say they disagree with how he handled the issue to just 19% giving him support. Among people who support the health care bill 84% say they disapprove of Lieberman’s actions but even among those opposed to the initiative 52% say they disagree with how Lieberman handled himself.

“Joe Lieberman isn’t popular enough with the Democrats or the Republicans to receive their nomination for the Senate in 2012,” said Dean Debnam, President of Public Policy Polling. “And since the independents don’t like him much these days either it’s hard to see how he’ll be around for another term.”

Connecticut voters are pretty divided on the health care plan, with 47% supporting it and 43% opposed. Barack Obama’s approval rating in the state is 54%, with 38% of voters disapproving of him.

PPP will release new numbers on the Governor’s race tomorrow.

PPP surveyed 522 Connecticut voters on January 4th and 5th. The margin of error is +/- 4.3%. Other factors, such as refusal to be interviewed and weighting, may introduce additional error that is more difficult to quantify.

Complete results are attached and can be found at www.publicpolicypolling.com.
